

THE BOYS
S1E6

BUTCHER

My wife, Becca, used to hum the Spice Girls. Drove me round the fucking bend, you know All day long, walking around the house, humming. She was happy. Now, fuck know why she was happy with me, but...she was happy. Homelander raped her. Not long after that, she came and sat right here. I know this 'cause she got tagged in that security camera right there. She sat here for three hours. Didn't move a muscle. Then she just got up and walked away. That was eight years ago. And nobody's seen her since. Either Homelander killed her or she killed herself. Same difference. You see, I know what it's like to lose someone. You and me, we're in this together. For Robin...and Becca. That is why you can't allow yourself to be distracted by another bird. Especially not a Supe. Just remember...who your friends and who your enemies are.